Location RWS Gallery at Whitcomb Street

Date Thursday 22nd October 2026

Time 10.30am – 4.30pm

About the Workshop

In this workshop you will join artists Alice Macdonald and Jessica Jane Charleston in reimagining what the self-portrait can be. Using the self-portrait as a starting point, you will be guided to create new characters and scenes, drawing from life, the imagination, props and drapery.

You will start the day by exploring how other artists have re-imagined the self portrait, looking at artists like Paula Rego, Alice Neel, Edvard Munch, Chantal Joffe and many more. Alice and Jessica will lead various short exercises experimenting with materials and composition, and you will be guided to create a more considered watercolour painting in the afternoon.

Suitable for all levels, this daylong session will be a playful and inventive experience.

Morning

- Introduction to Alice and Jessica's work
- Alice & Jessica will share artworks and influences with the group, e.g. Paula Rego, Celia Paul, Ken Kiff, Paula Modersohn-Becker, Alice Neel, Edvard Munch, Chantal Joffe and more.
- Alice & Jessica will lead a series of warm-up drawing exercises to get the hand moving and the mind relaxed.
- Participants will start drawing from the self-portrait, whilst bringing in elements of the imagination, using pencils, charcoal and pastels.

Afternoon

- Break for lunch
- Participants will look back at drawings made in the morning and discuss what can be developed further during the afternoon session.
- Participants will move away from using drawing materials, to watercolours. Working from the drawings made in the morning, props and the mirror, you will be guided to reinvent new characters and scenes.
- Review: final round up and viewing of the work as a group, sharing and celebrating each other's achievements.
